Session C focuses on German projects

What experience has been gained so far from the installation of wind farms in Germany's North and Baltic seas? Session C has always attracted great interest, with seats filled to the last place. Irina Lucke from EWE Offshore will talk about the differences between the Alpha Ventus test field and Riffgat, the first commercial wind farm. RWE Innogy will provide insight on its experience with Nordsee Ost. DONG Energy, EnBW and wpd offshore will also describe the current status of their projects. No session is better suited for finding out the latest on Germany's wind farms at sea. For more information on all sessions, please visit www.windforce2014.com.
