

Issue 20 – March 2014

Dear Newsletter Readers,

It's not long now – in just three months the national offshore wind industry will meet with international experts for three days in Bremen – from 17 to 19 June 2014. A varied range of events boasting not only the trade fair and conference but also an exciting excursion, a party, and the legendary WINDFORCE Dinner are on the programme. Find out more here about what's going on and what options are available to you as exhibitor, conference participant or sponsor of WINDFORCE, Germany's most important event for the offshore wind sector. Enjoy your read!

Take advantage of early booking rates – register for the conference now!

With 70 lectures and presentations in 14 sessions, the WINDFORCE conference programme has never been as comprehensive as it is now in its tenth year. Whether it's about national or international markets and projects, new developments, technical ways to reduce costs, or questions of standardisation and harmonisation – all these topics will be presented and discussed on 18 and 19 June at the WINDFORCE conference. Among the international speakers will be Andrew Garrad, president of the European Wind Energy Association (EWEA) and James Beal from the British Consulate General. A new feature of the programme will be a breakfast session starting at 8 a.m. on each day of the conference and focusing on turbines (first day) and floating foundations (second day). Be sure to take advantage of early booking rates and register by 15 April at: www.windforce2014.com.

Excursion by air over the North Sea

Global Tech 1, Meerwind and DanTysk are among the wind farms to see from above along four different aerial routes. We are aiming high in 2014! Excursion participants will have the opportunity to view three operating wind farms and eight other projects still under construction in the North Sea. During the flights, information shared with participants will give them insight into the current status of these wind farms. Flights are scheduled for Monday, 16 June, the day before the trade fair and conference begins. You can register for this unique experience at: www.windforce2014.com.

exhibitor or conference participant? We can still help you remind the offshore wind sector of your enterprise in a sustainable way if you show your presence as a sponsor. And even if you are already an exhibitor or have registered for the conference, an additional show of presence will strengthen your marketing activities. Several options are still available for showing your involvement with the sector. We will be happy to prepare an individual offer for your business. To see our sponsorship plan, please visit:

WINDFORCE Baltic Sea documentation now available!

In February, more than 30 speakers gathered in Gdansk to talk about current developments in offshore wind energy in the Baltic Sea. Some 120 participants were highly satisfied with the event and have already noted the third Baltic Sea offshore wind conference coming up next year. The 2015 WINDFORCE Baltic Sea conference will be held from 4 to 5 February in Helsinki. Anyone interested in the presentations given in Gdansk this year can order the CD documentation for EUR 80 by contacting:

jaworski@windforce2014.com Speakers at the event were from HOCHTIEF, Ballast Nedam, Strabag, General Cable and Green Giraffe Energy Bankers, among others, as well as representatives from seven offshore wind associations in countries bordering the Baltic Sea. For more information, please go to:
